

The "favicon" is the web icon that appears before the web address/url.

Most web browsers will put a default "favicon" representing the browser – web developers/designers have the ability to substitute the default art for their own, in the html code.

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the title "Color Wheel Creatives - Graphic Design Studio". The address bar contains the URL "http://www.colorwheelcreatives.com/" and a search bar with "Google". A red arrow points to the small, colorful wheel icon (the favicon) in the address bar. The website content includes a navigation menu with links for HOME, PORTFOLIO, ARTIST BIO, ABOUT CWC, and CONTACT. The main content area features a large image of a colorful pinwheel, a quote about the studio's services, and several sections of text describing the studio's niche and vision. The footer contains a list of services and a Google AdSense banner.
